Gratitude is Learned

All parents want their children to be polite and thankful, but how can we teach them gratitude? Here are some ideas from www.parents.com

- Use gratitude in YOUR daily conversation
- Have kids help with household chores
- Insist on writing thank you notes
- Say no to some of your child's desires
- Give back to your community

Time and patience will pay off when your child shows how grateful they truly are for the things and experiences they are offered!
